ACC Members work each and every day to fulfill the ACC Mission to transform cardiovascular care and improve heart health. Cardiology professionals meet challenging times with resiliency and innovation each and every day. To do so, we balance innovation with tried and true care practices based on a solid clinical foundation.

We are pleased to present the 2024 Joint Kansas and Missouri ACC Annual Scientific Session on Saturday, October 26, 2024 in Overland Park, KS. This meeting will showcase the wide breadth of cardiovascular medicine that is present throughout Kansas and Missouri.

We will begin the day with an ACC Update from past ACC Board of Governor's Chair Malissa Wood, M.D., FACC Our keynote speaker ACC Chief Diversity, Equity and Inclusion officer, Melvin Echols, MD, FACC, who will discuss Eliminating Disparities in Cardiovascular Health.

Our morning session will feature Obesity, Cardiometabolic Risk and Cardio Vascular Disease: A Call to Action. We willl round out the morning with two Debate Sessions on Atrial Fibrillation-Device Detected Subclinical Atrial Fibrillation Should be Treated Like Clinical Atrial Fibrillation and Wearables Cardio Defibrillators in Prevention of Sudden Cardiac Death: 2b or not 2b?

The afternoon will feature nine breakout session focused on a variety of topics including Autonomic Dysotonomia Diagosis/Pots, Lipid Disorders, Advances in Vascular Care, Adult Congenital Heart Disease, Intervention and Structural Heart Updates, Missoui ACC research Grant Recipient Presentations, Heart Failure and Cardiomyopathy, Critical Care Cardiology, and Heart Disease in Women/Cardio Obstetrics.

Fellows in Training will participate in a Poster Competition throughout the day. We will close out the day with a spirited FIT Jeopardy Competition featuring FITs from all Training Programs in Kansas and Missouri.

This event's exhibition and marketing opportunities are open to a variety of commercial supporters (e.g. companies). Our joint meeting provides opportunities to chat with attendees and distribute product information at your exhibit booth.

We appreciate your longstanding support and would love to see you on October 26, 2024.

Keynote Speakers

Malissa Wood, M.D., FACC

Dr. Malissa Wood currently serves as the Vice President and Chief Physician Executive at the Lee Health Heart Institute. Under her leadership, the institute has reinforced its status as the premier center for cardiovascular care in Southwest Florida. Dr. Wood joined Lee Health after a tenure at Massachusetts General Hospital, where she served as Associate Chief of Cardiology and as co-director of the Corrigan Women's Heart Health Program. She also held the Cathy E. Minehan Chair for Cardiovascular Disease in Women and was an associate professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School.

At Lee Health, Dr. Wood has been instrumental in expanding the cardiology service line across both acute and ambulatory care settings. She strives to enhance patient outcomes through the growth and expansion of the cardiovascular programmatic offerings and to elevate the heart institute to national prominence.

Dr. Wood's research endeavors focus on the cardiovascular health of athletes and high-risk populations. Her leadership in the Happy Heart Trial—a study aimed at enhancing the heart health of low-income women—has been noteworthy. She has also worked with U.S. Olympic Committee and elite athletes from Harvard University. Dr. Wood received the prestigious 2023 Wenger Award for Excellence in Medical Leadership for her dedication to women's heart health. She has also served as Chairman of the Board of Governors and Secretary of the American College of Cardiology.

Melvin Echols, M.D., FACC

Melvin R. Echols, MD, FACC, is ACC's Chief Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Office. Echols leads the College's diversity, equity and inclusion strategy and programs, while also maintaining a portion of his current clinical and research responsibilities at Morehouse School of Medicine in Atlanta.

Echols is currently an associate professor of cardiovascular disease at Morehouse School of Medicine and serves as program director for the Cardiovascular Disease Fellowship. He is also a practicing cardiologist specializing in heart failure and brings more than a decade of experience as a clinical trial investigator focusing on heart failure, quality improvement, social determinants of health, and health care disparities.

In his role as Chief Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Officer, Echols uses his expertise and experiences to work with ACC members, staff, external partners and other stakeholders to identify and implement programmatic goals and develop actionable and sustainable solutions to achieving a more diverse, equitable and inclusive College and cardiovascular profession. Specifically, he leads and facilitates ACC's efforts to mitigate barriers to entry into the field of cardiology; build and expand educational initiatives like the new Internal Medicine Program; and lead and coordinate the diversity and inclusion efforts and training of both staff and members across the College.

Echols graduated from Morehouse School of Medicine in 2002 and completed Internal Medicine at Duke University in 2005. He completed his cardiovascular fellowship training at Duke University Medical Center. He is a member of the ACC, Association of Black Cardiologists, the Heart Failure Society of America, the American Society of Preventive Cardiology, and the American Heart Association.

General Information

Statement of Need

Health care in the 21st century is coming to embrace advanced technologies in an effort to shift toward more individualized, patient centered and value based approaches that will focus on quality improvement and outcomes measurements. Consequently, it is essential that cardiovascular clinicians not only understand disease and wellness states, but be able to competently and appropriately implement new diagnostic and therapeutic modalities.

Overall Goal

The overall goal of this program is to help the cardiovascular clinician improve patient care and outcomes measurements. Specifically, we anticipate that cardiovascular clinicians will be able to identify knowledge and practice gaps and that the knowledge gained will result in improved clinical expertise and patient care.

Target Audience

This course is designed for Cardiologists, CV Surgeons, Pharmacists, Cardiovascular Physician Trainees, Internists, Primary Care Physicians, Physician Assistants, Nurse Practitioners, and other health care providers.

Exhibitor Acknowledgment

At the time of printing, a complete listing of industry supporters was not available. Appropriate acknowledgment will be made upon confirmation of support at the time of the course.

Accreditation

In support of improving patient care, the American College of Cardiology Foundation (ACCF) is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

JOINTLY ACCREDITED PROVIDER™
INTERPROFESSIONAL CONTINUING EDUCATION

Successful completion of this CME activity, which includes participation in the evaluation component, enables the participant to earn up to ____ Medical Knowledge MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine's (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) Program.

ABIM CME MOC ACCREDITED

Participants will earn MOC points equivalent to the amount of CME credits claimed for the activity. It is the CME activity provider's responsbility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM MOC credit.

The ACCF designates this live educational activity for a maximum of ____ AMA PRA Category I Credit(s)™, ___ ABIM Medical Knowledge MOC Points (MOC), ___ Clinical Nursing EducationContact Hours (CNE), ____ Pharmacotherapeutic Nursing Contact Hours (CNERx), and ____ Contact Hours of the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (CPE).

Physicians, nurses and pharmacists should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Disclosure Information

As a provider jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), the American College of Cardiology Foundation (ACCF) must ensure balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor in all of their directly provided or jointly provided/co-provided educational activities. Planners, presenters, and other contributors, in a position to control the content are required to disclose to the audience all relevant financial relationships he/she and/or his/her spouse or domestic partner may have, occurring within the past 24 months, with any entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients. When an unlabeled use of a commercial product or an investigational use not yet approved for any purpose is discussed during an educational activity, the contributor should disclose that the product is not labeled for the use under discussion or that the product is still investigational.

ACCF is committed to providing its learners with high-quality activities and materials that promote improvements and quality in health care and not a specific proprietary business or commercial interest. The intent of this disclosure is not to prevent participation in educational activities by persons with a financial or other relationship, but rather to provide learners with information on which they can make their own determination whether financial interests or relationships may influence the education activity.

ACCF assesses conflicts of interest (COI) with its faculty, planners, managers, staff, and other individuals who are in a position to control the content of certified activities. All relevant potential conflicts of interest that are identified are thoroughly vetted by course directors, ACCF education staff, and members of the Accreditation Compliance Workgroup (ACWG) through a process that includes appropriate peer review for fair balance, scientific objectivity and validity, and patient care and safety recommendations.

Learning Objectives:

- Discuss the role of clinicians in address cardiovascular healthcare disparities and the impact on quality cardiovascular patient care.
- Be familiar with various atrial fibrllation treatment modalities.
- Discuss factors in selecting and using medications effectively in cardiovascular patients.
- Be able to identify and discuss a variety of patient care strategies, including pharmacologic, in the management of patients with various disease states and conditions.

Exhibitor Information

Why You Should Participate

In addition to providing continuing medical education, the symposium also hosts the opportunity for your company to have dedicated exhibit time to network with conference participants.

Platinum –$10,000

- For Hospitals and Health Systems – a registration code for complimentary registration for all of your employees will be provided
- Prime Location with two exhibit tables.
- Priority Signage in the Lobby with Logo
- Recognition from the podium during Opening and Closing Remarks
- Company contact information provided in event materials and on the chapter website
- Social Media recognition promoting your organization in advance of the meeting, day of and post meeting
- Eight (8) exhibitor badges to attend the symposium (additional badges available for purchase)
- Pre-Conference Participant Directory via email 2 weeks prior to the symposium
- Pre-Conference Participant Directory via email 2 days prior to symposium
- Post-Conference Participant Directory via email within a week after symposium

Who Will Attend

Cardiologists, primary care physicians, fellows in training, nurses, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, pharmacists and other health care providers. We anticipate over 300 attendees for this conference. Keep in mind, this is a combined meeting with access to ACC members from both Kansas and Missouri at just one meeting.

Gold –$6,000

- For Hospitals and Health Systems – a registration code for complimentary registration for all of your employees will be provided
- Display Booth in the Exhibit Area
- Recognition from the podium during Opening and Closing Remarks
- Company contact information provided in event materials and on the symposium website
